Worst in state?

DEP cracks down on new hook-ups to Bethel sewer

The state Department of Environmental Protection late last week told the Town of Bethel to not allow any additional hook-ups to the municipal sewer.

The letter to town officials stated, in part: "The Department cannot condone additional discharges of wastewater to the Bethel treatment facilities. [Therefore], no permits can be granted for new construction."

The DEP last year ordered an end to all multi-unit hook-ups. This latest move would close the sewer to any and all new customers.

While stopping short of a formal order to stop additional hook-ups, the agency is prepared to take the town to court, a DEP official said, if town officials choose to disregard the warning against new hookups.

Louis Fontaine, an environmental specialist with the Water Quality Division of the DEP, said the prohibition against new hook-ups applies to all new construction and alterations—both residential and commercial, both single- and multi-unit.

Mr. Fontaine characterized the Bethel sewer plant as among the worst in the state. "The plant is very bad; it's falling apart. I can't think of [any] other one [in the state] with an aeration plant ready to fall in."

He said there are so many problems with the Bethel plant that the only way

College courses via TV will be offered at Telstar

Telstar High School is one of 23 high schools in Maine selected as a site for the Community College of Maine Instructional Television System by the Department of Educational and Cultural Services. The school was selected as a result of a competitive application process.

Local interest in the interactive television system has been evident since the University of Maine first announced the proposed method of increasing accessibility to university programs over a year ago. SAD #44 Adult and Community Education Director Cathy Newell kept in touch with the development of the system and prepared the SAD #44 application for site status. The application was accompanied by letters of support from the Bethel Area Health Center, Sunday River Ski Resort, Gould Academy, Town of Newry, SAD #44 Staff Development Team, Bethel Historical Society, Senator Ed Erwin, Town of Bethel, Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, and Western Mountains Alliance.

According to the proposal submitted by SAD #44, the Lecture Hall and Room 98 will be wired to serve as ITV classrooms when not in use during the school day. The University of Maine system is still negotiating with a vendor for the transmission facilities of the system. Installation of equipment at local sites is expected during the coming year.

According to Superintendent of Schools Dewaine Craig, SAD #44 is honored to have been selected to be part of this exciting new instructional medium. He looks forward to the opportunities it will afford residents of the area.

Cable TV franchise drafted for Andover

A draft cable TV franchise between the Town of Andover and State Cable, of Augusta, is open for public scrutiny at the town office, Selectwoman Laura Hutchins said. Depending on public reaction, the selectmen are expected to either approve the franchise as drafted, or suggest changes.

The services being offered by State Cable, which already serves Rumford and has recently acquired franchises for Roxbury and Hanover as well, would offer a basic package of a dozen channels for a monthly fee of $11.50. The basic package includes the three major network affiliates, plus Channel 10 (WCBB), the news channels, Nashville, a French-language channel and ESPN.

Cable Plus, for an additional $4, would add such channels as MTV, USA, Lifetime, Discovery, Nickelodeon and CBN.

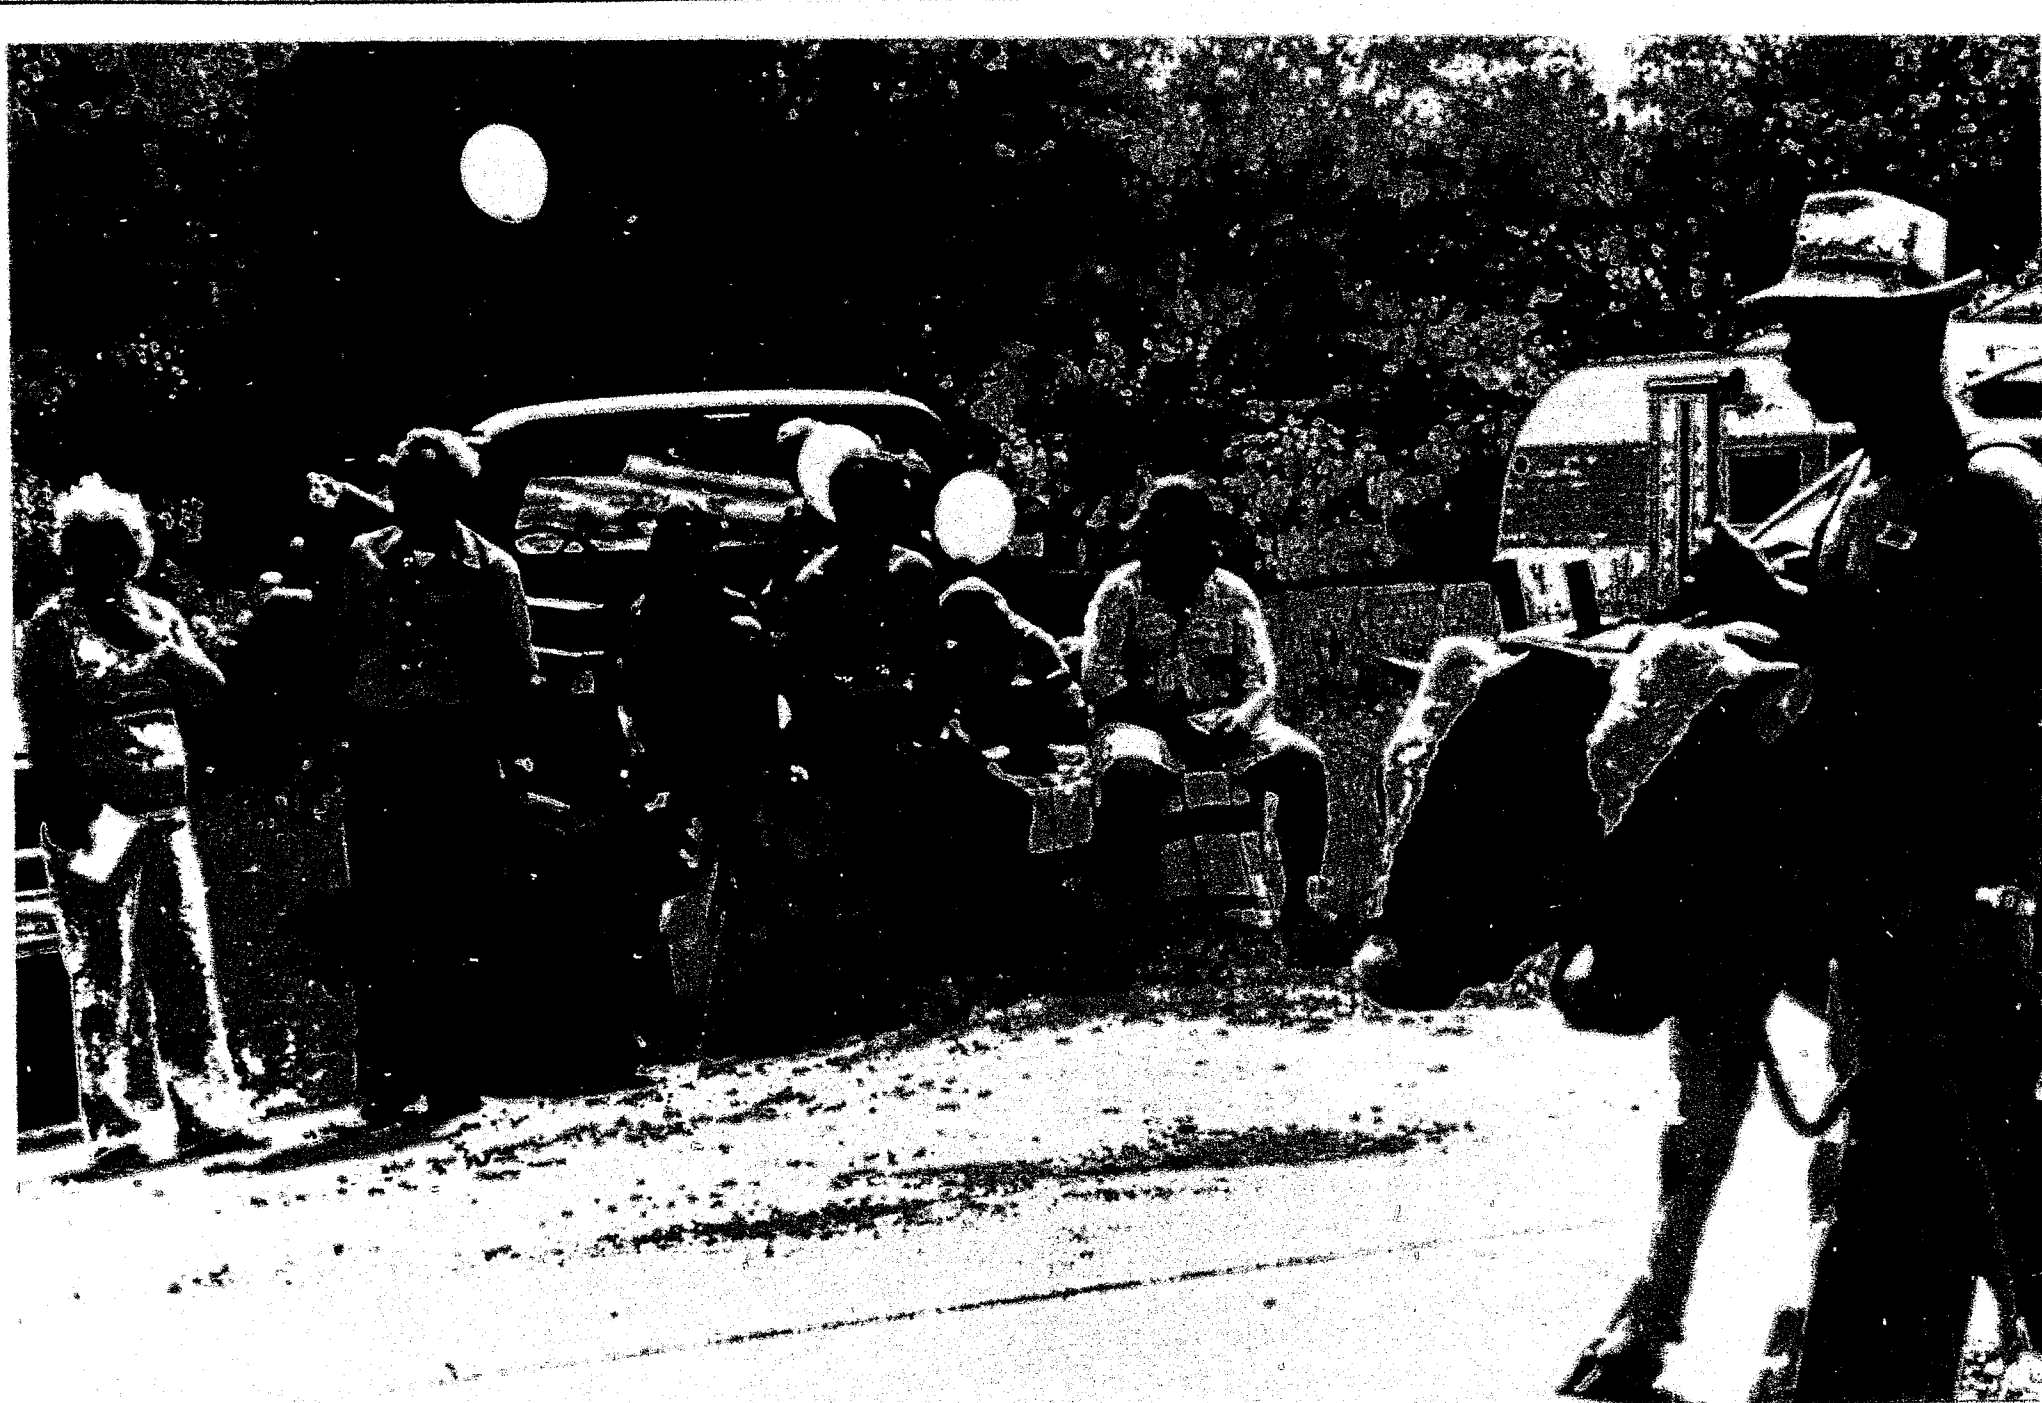

For another additional charge customers could receive HBO, Cinemax, Disney and NESN.

The selectmen had originally considered giving the franchise to Grassroots Cable Systems, Inc., of Portsmouth, N.H. Mrs. Hutchins said, however, that Grassroots' rates were higher and the network channels it offered were not the Maine channels people were used to. Grassroots offered a basic package of 18 channels for $20.

A State Cable spokesman said his company was negotiating with CMP and Conel for permission to string cable on the utility poles in Roxbury, Rumford Point and Hanover. He did not know when the franchise agreement with Andover might be concluded, but—once approved—the work of stringing cable could be done along with the cable going to the other nearby towns. All the signals for customers in this area would originate at the main reception point, in Rumford, he said. Speaking of the starting date for service in the neighboring towns, he said he hoped the cable could all be in place by next spring.

Olde Home Days fun for those who braved heat

While the sweltering heat and booming thunderstorms of this "greenhouse effect" summer tended to dampen much of the public's enthusiasm for a day under the sun, those people who did attend Andover's Olde Home Days celebration last weekend found it as homey and congenial as ever.

Nevertheless, the record-setting crowds of last year were nowhere to be seen. Whereas last year the crowd may have approached 5,000, this year there were probably not half that number. Still, there were enough to cause a run on the Andover Fire Department's famous barbecued chicken dinners—to eat in the fire station or take out under a shade tree. The firefighters sold out all 400 dinners, and there was a line of hungry diners from 11 a.m. until the last dinner was sold.

Also selling out fast were the homemade foods and the cookie walk presented by the ladies of the Congregational Church. By noon on Saturday the foods were gone.

Some 70 antique and classic autos showed up for the auto show at Akers' field, and about a dozen of them cranked up and led the parade up Main Street on Saturday.

The parade's theme was "Days of Yesteryear," and the Andover Library won the float contest by presenting a float with literary characters from yesteryear.

Jim Haskell, of Bethel, won a blue ribbon in the horse division of the parade for his old-fashioned horse-drawn carriage.

In the fire truck division, Bethel's firefighters repeated their accomplishment of last year and made off with the best-looking firetruck award.

Sudbury Canada Days this weekend in Bethel

Plans for the 9th annual Sudbury Canada Days, the Society's summer heritage festival to be held Aug. 13-14 are complete, with a wide variety of activities for all ages. Participants are always needed for the children's parade and for the children's games. Competitors are also needed for the badminton, horseshoe and croquet tournaments. Several videos emphasizing logging and heritage themes will be shown continuously through the afternoons on both days. Several artists are expected to display their work on the lawn of the Hastings house next to the Dr. Moses Mason House. There will be a food sale to benefit the Middle Intervale Meeting House Society on the lawn of the Dr. Moses Mason House. Those interested in logging and farming in another era can see tools and copies of old photos on display in the Hastings barn next door to the Dr. Moses House. Several craft demonstrators/exhibitors are expected to be present and all Oxford County historical societies have been invited to display their pamphlets and books relating to the area's heritage.

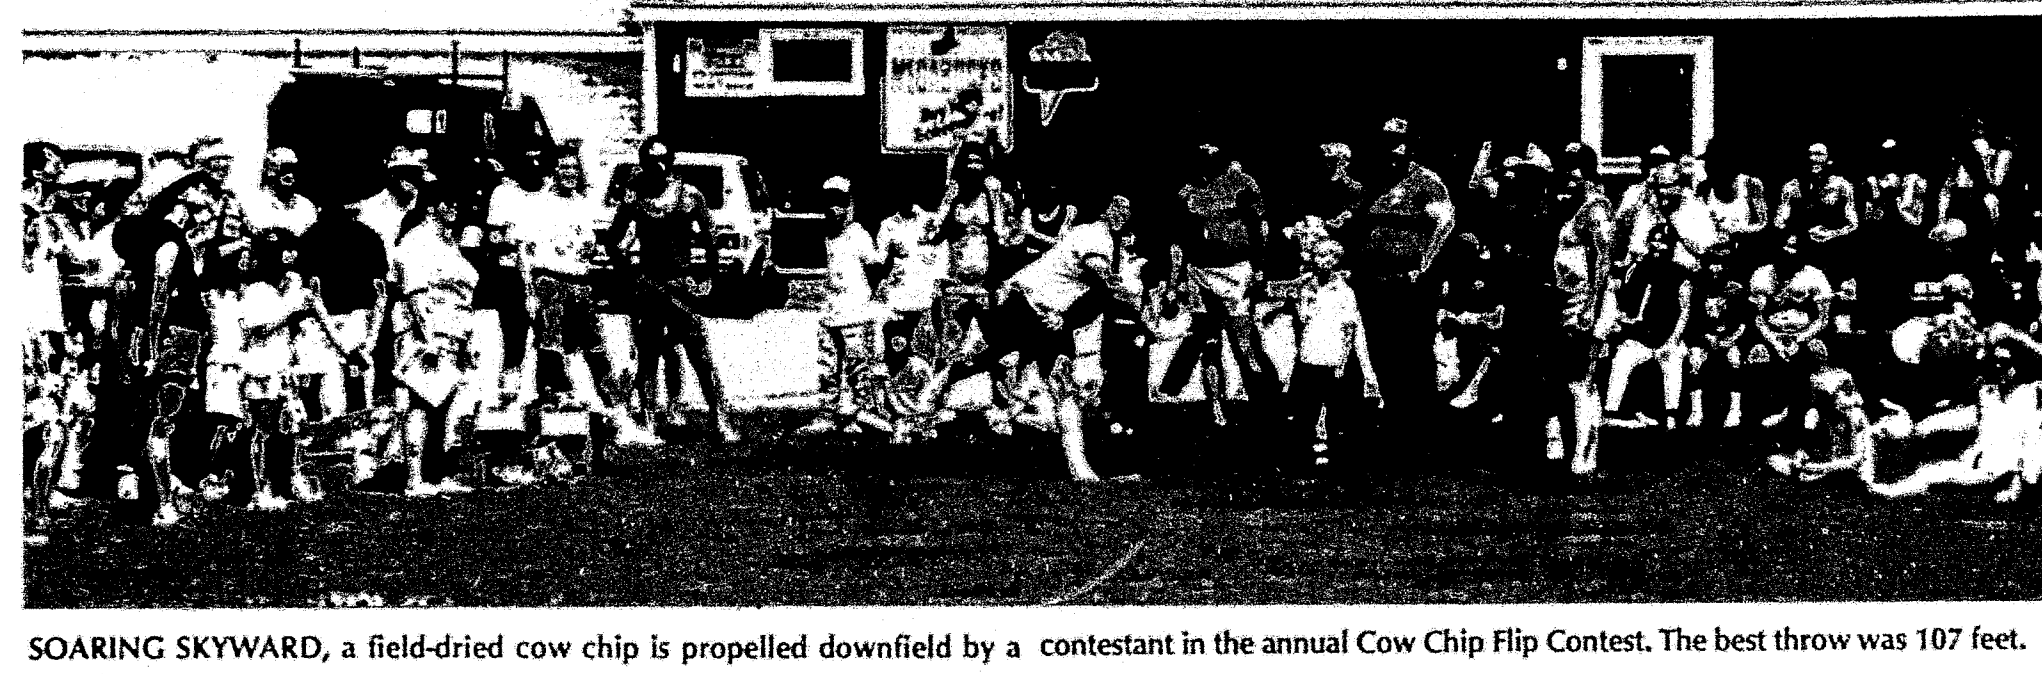

Saturday's events will be capped by the famous Log Driver's Bean Supper and the old-time variety show. Sunday's events will be highlighted by the old fashioned church service at the West Parish Congregational Church. Anyone wishing to participate or receive additional information about Sudbury Canada Days is urged to call the Society office at 824-2908.

'Change-of-use' issue back to planning board

The issue that caused the Appeals Board to meet last month—the change-of-use clause in Bethel's new Site Plan Review Ordinance—will be tackled by the Bethel Planning Board again.

The story began last spring, when Brian and Sandy Strickland—owners of the Naimen Block—declined to apply for a permit for changing their RFD #1 Restaurant into a barber shop and retail store. The Appeals Board was called upon to decide the issue and did so last month, declaring that the Stricklands should have applied for a permit under the Site Plan Review Ordinance since their change-of-use was a provision covered by the ordinance.

The Stricklands are expected to apply for a permit for the change-of-use at tonight's Planning Board meeting, which begins at 7 p.m., at Telstar Regional High School.

The question of exactly what constitutes a change-of-use, however, is still very much up in the air and was part of the discussion of the Planning Board last Wednesday at a workshop session. The board is working on a set of changes to the Site Plan Review Ordinance, which changes would have to be approved by a Special Town Meeting. Such a meeting is expected to be called in October or November, according to the town manager.

The compromise amendment being worked out on change-of-use is expected to stipulate that anyone contemplating a change-of-use for his or her property should first present a rough sketch plan to the Planning Board. This would not be an application.

The board could then decide whether the changes portrayed by the sketch constituted a change-of-use, as covered by the ordinance. If the planners felt the ordinance came into play, they would require the person to submit a permit application. If the person thought the board's request was unreasonable, he or she could then take the matter to the Appeals Board.

According to Town Manager Rodney Lynch, this compromise arrangement would allow people to present their plans

Newry residents petition for building moratorium

Over 60 Newry residents have signed a petition calling for a 180-day moratorium on new subdivisions, multi-family housing and commercial and industrial developments in their town. The petition was presented to the Board of Selectmen yesterday (Tuesday).

The proposed moratorium seeks to enjoin the town's Planning Board and Board of Appeals from discussing or acting on any applications for the sort of building that would be prohibited.

The moratorium proposal states, in part: "Whereas the Town of Newry does not maintain municipal facilities for the disposal of its solid waste, stumps, tires or white goods, and whereas the Town of Newry does not maintain a voter-approved written contract with any other town or private entity for the disposal of its solid waste, stumps, tires, or white goods... and whereas the Town of Bethel has given notice that it is considering closing its landfill to the Town of Newry as of July 1, 1989, and whereas the Town of Newry, with a year-round population of under 300 people has entertained approximately 10,000 people per day during the peak skiing season, and whereas the Planning Board approved in 1987 232 multi-family housing units and 260 in 1988, and whereas the Town of Newry needs sufficient time in which to plan and implement a plan for the disposal of its solid waste... therefore the residents of

Group wants football brought back to Telstar

Local residents who would like to see interscholastic football back at Telstar Regional High School met last night at the Telstar library. Bill Roberts, of East Bethel, is one of the leaders of the group.

After fielding powerful teams in the 1970s, Telstar's football fortunes waned, and the sport was dropped in the '80s.

A Telstar administrator said if there is enough local support, the group will make a presentation to the school board. This official said a number of local people have volunteered large donations to purchase the expensive equipment that a football program would require.

Opinions

Where was CMP?

At Andover's Olde Home Days celebration last weekend, one of the groups most in evidence—both in the parade and on the Common—was No Thank-Q Hydro-Quebec. This group has led the opposition to Central Maine Power Company's proposal to import power from Canada and recently organized an Andover chapter.

Andover residents would be among those penalized for the power import by having to live with an unsightly, and possibly harmful, string of high-voltage towers through town. The line of 120-foot high steel towers would extend from the Canadian border 90 miles through western Maine.

And for what? So that CMP can import a few hundred megawatts of what the company calls—dependable and relatively cheap power. CMP first proposed importing up to 1,000 megawatts of power, even though Maine customers only needed half that amount, according to CMP's projections. Challenged as to why the importation was to be double the projected need, CMP officials downplayed the idea that the importation was really meant to benefit out-of-state customers. They said, rather, that the 1,000-megawatt deal was the smallest amount the Canadians would sell at the agreed-upon 9.5-cent per kilowatt average price.

Recently, as potential out-of-state customers have dwindled, CMP has said it would like to import just 300 megawatts of power. No more talk by CMP officials of a 1,000-megawatt minimum.

If you feel that CMP has not been open about what its plans are for the power importation, you're probably on the right track. And maybe that's why CMP was not at Andover's Olde Home Days celebration trying to win friends and influence people. While the No Thank-Q Hydro-Quebec forces were getting hundreds of signatures on their anti-powerline petitions, CMP officials were nowhere to be seen.

It seems that while the opposition is working with the people who live in the area, the CMP strategy is to concentrate on the legislators and bureaucrats who live outside the area—but who will ultimately have the responsibility for approving (or disapproving) the project.

The State Public Utilities Commission is expected to give its recommendation this fall. The state Legislature is expected to voice feelings on the project—which could include overturning a PUC rejection—thereafter. The State Department of Environmental Protection still must rule on environmental considerations, and the federal government must still grant an import permit. Disregarding concerns of the citizenry, CMP officials are spending their time—and money—lobbying those whom they figure have the power. This strategy may yet backfire on CMP if the people decide to speak out. bfw

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

This letter is from one concerned family who could be living extremely close to a very dangerous and unnecessary powerline—the Central Maine Power HVDC transmission line to Hydro-Quebec. For background information, my husband has had total kidney failure since 1982 and has had a successful kidney transplant for one year after years of dialysis. We have three children, are very health-conscious people and have spent many years searching for a vacation getaway in Maine that would fit our wants and needs—no barking dogs, no neighbors, no electricity, just clean pure rivers in the middle of the mountains in "unspoiled" unorganized territory.

We own our camp and lease the land from the State of Maine. We live directly across the street from the Appalachian Trail, which includes the flume and cataracts. We were recently advised and proudly made the only leasehold locked into a newly created or organized area called the "Mahoosuc Management Unit," a Public Reserved Lands System.

As a lessee with the State of Maine and as a leaseholder in the Mahoosuc Management Unit, we are very alarmed and upset with the possible construction of the Central Maine Power HVDC transmission line to Hydro-Quebec. Our concerns are as follows:

- Pollution to Frye Brook and the west branch of the Ellis River because of the many small tributaries which run directly into such. Frye Brook is included as a protected riparian zone in the Unit.
- The Mahoosuc Management Unit must be protected and left in its intended condition. The proposed western corridor of the powerline could run into or be very close to this so-called protected area.
- The protection of fish and wildlife, including the historic and nesting sites of the endangered species of the bald and golden eagle and peregrine falcon and the threatened species of the northern bog lemming, within the regulations of laws of the Unit.
- Language quoted from our lease includes prevention of accelerated erosion of soils or sediment from the property into any waters and restricts use of chemical defoliants, brush killers or residual pesticides. Such would be used

To the Editor:

I have lived in the Town of Bethel for eight years and I have really enjoyed living there. For the past summer and this summer I have been away in the military. This year I have requested to have the newspaper sent to me while I'm on active duty and really enjoy reading and receiving the town news.

What I really am getting at is that the Town of Bethel is a great place to live and I hope that it will never change. I plan on going full-time Army, and when I leave I plan on coming back to the great Town of Bethel. Keep up the great work.

To the Editor:

Here's to Lauretta Iaro. She said it all, much better than I could.

Her paragraph about greeting visitors with Super Shaw and Big Mac makes me shudder.

Let's not change Bethel from the charming country village that it is—what people come here for. They can find Shaw's and Mac anywhere, if they want them—we don't need them here.

Louise Franklin

by the powerline.

- Powerlines are dangerous human health hazards, known to cause cancer in children. This powerline would be directly in our backyard.

These are only a few of the multitude of problems the powerline will create. Everyone should also read and become familiar with the policies of the Mahoosuc Management Unit plan adopted in February to realize how the powerline would violate the intent and purpose of the entire plan.

We trust that the State of Maine and local agencies and public officials and advisors will not allow such a disruption of natural formation and beauty which would change the lives of people and the State of Maine forever. Please consider the dreadful effect of this powerline and act to keep it out before it is too late.

Sewer plant

to cure them is to rebuild the plant. "Basically they need a new treatment plant," he said.

The recent study done for the town by DuBois & King estimated a cost of $1.3 million for rebuilding the plant. The municipal sewer serves just over 400 customers.

Town Manager Rodney Lynch met with Mr. Fontaine nearly two weeks ago and told the Board of Selectmen last week that he would be presenting a schedule of work to the DEP in order to satisfy their concerns.

Mr. Fontaine confirmed Mr. Lynch's report of the meeting. "We said, 'Give us a schedule; give us a plan. We're looking for a big fix.'"

Mr. Fontaine told The Citizen his agency did not necessarily expect the town to spend the $1.3 million on repairs all at once. He said the agency would be satisfied if the town rebuilt the plant component by component over a period of a few years.

However, until the plant is improved, he warned, the agency would have to add additional hook-ups, except those of an emergency nature—such as where a septic system is overflowing. "The prohibition stays on until the treatment plant is in compliance," he said. "There's no sense in making a bad condition worse," he added.

Mr. Lynch is expected to present the town's schedule of work on Oct. 1. If acceptable to the DEP, this promise of what the town will do would become the basis of a consent agreement among the town, the DEP and the attorney general's office, Mr. Fontaine said. He noted that his agency had recently signed a similar consent agreement with Lisbon.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to the letter from Lauretta Iaro in the Aug. 3 issue. I agree with all she said, and I have a few more ideas to add. The first time I saw Ronald McDonald in the Mollycoddett Day parade I knew we were in trouble.

I, too, have never had a problem finding a really good burger locally and have taken added pleasure in the knowledge that my purchase was benefiting a local merchant and Maine producers and suppliers. On the other hand, a burger bought from Ronald not only doesn't support local merchants, but it contributes to a much larger, more frightening chain of events. McDonald's buys all of its beef from South America, thereby contributing to the permanent destruction of hundreds of thousands of acres of rainforest and the subsequent negative consequences to world weather patterns, migratory birds, and more.

I moved to Bethel because it is rural, quiet, friendly. I like the fact that there are no traffic lights for 20 miles and that the crowds and confusion and impersonality of the city are things I can take in small doses when, as, and if I feel a need to visit Lewiston or Portland.

Frankly, I get a little impatient with those who come here to escape the hustle-bustle of the city and then complain about the lack of conveniences. Bethel with super-supermarkets and fast food chains would not be Bethel. Having to drive a little farther or wait a little longer for some goods and services is part of the price I willingly pay for Bethel as it is.

I realize that everyone has to make a living. In doing so, however, one should display a sense of responsibility to the world around him. Certainly the realtors in any community must show a sensitivity to the character and integrity of that community and work to maintain, rather than destroy, what is, after all, their bread and butter. It's time we all recognized that not all growth and development is progress. Some of it is downright degradation. Let's hope that Bethel is not degraded by the wrong kind of growth.

G-W transfer station

Both the Greenstock and West Paris transfer stations are currently shipping their solid waste to the Norridgewock facility. But the Greenstock station is doing so without a contract, and the status of the West Paris contract is "somewhat fuzzy"—in the words of Selectman Duane Abbott.

Greenwood Selectwoman Marie Bartlett said she has placed a number of calls to CWS President Alva Achorn since the Greenstock contract expired in June, but that he has not yet discussed terms for a new contract.

"When I last talked to him, he said: 'Give me two or three weeks,' Mrs. Bartlett said. 'I'm still waiting to hear back from him.'"

Because of restrictions placed by BEP on the amount of out-of-state trash that can be accepted in the landfill expansion, Mr. Achorn has said CWS is signing no new contracts with municipalities and beginning in January will no longer accept waste from municipalities without contracts.

(CWS claims that the higher prices it charges for out-of-state waste have been subsidizing Maine customers.)

If Greenstock is able to obtain a new contract, Mrs. Bartlett said, the cost would certainly be higher than under the old contract, and it's unclear how long the contract would be for.

"Everything is up in the air," she said.

West Paris officials face similar uncertainties. The contract for the West Paris transfer station expired in April but contained an "automatic renewability" clause for one year, Mr. Abbott said.

"But there are a lot of 'ifs,' he added.

West Paris officials have attempted to discuss a new contract with CWS, Mr. Abbott said, but because of uncertainties surrounding the status of the Norridgewock landfill, CWS officials "really weren't interested in talking yet."

The only certainty in the whole matter, both Mr. Abbott and Mrs. Bartlett agree, is that costs are going up. "Whatever happens, we're looking at a substantial increase in rate," Mr. Abbott said.

FEDS GIVE STATE $61 MILLION

Maine's Congressional delegation announced this week that various companies, organizations, agencies and municipalities in the state were awarded over $61 million in federal grants and contracts during the month of June.

While the largest single sum went for a Navy contract with Bath Iron Works, there were scores of other grants, including one from the Environmental Protection Agency for $3 million to the Town of Washburn for the design and construction of sewer system equipment.

Moratorium

The Town of Newry hereby declares that an emergency exists affecting general health, welfare, community life and the public peace.

One of the organizers of the petition drive said it was the recent announcement by the Bethel selectmen that they were considering closing the landfill to neighboring towns that gave the impetus to press for the moratorium.

At Tuesday's Board of Selectmen meeting, it was decided to hold a public hearing on the moratorium proposal on Aug. 29 and to put it to a vote at a special town meeting Sept. 12.

Planning Board

Without going to the bother and expense of a formal application, and it would prevent them from taking matters to the Appeals Board prior to appearing before the Planning Board.

Other matters on tonight's Planning Board agenda include a sketch presentation by Ted Chadbourne, a Site Plan Review application by Jackie Mayo for a beauty salon, a Shoreland Zoning application by Jim Moir, a change-of-use by Betsy Cooper and a discussion on parking for a proposed restaurant at the Riverview Motel.

Newry selectmen see their town paying more of school budget

Newry's preliminary state valuation showed the largest increase of any town in SAD #44. (See last week's Citizen for complete listing of area towns' preliminary state valuations.)

Newry selectmen calculate that, given the new valuations Andover would pay 14.9 percent of the school district assessment, Bethel 31.9 percent, Greenwood 14.3 percent, Newry 23.3 percent, and Woodstock 15.6 percent.

As of April 1 there were 1,009 pupils in the five towns of SAD #44. At that time Andover had 181 (17.94 percent), Bethel 432 (42.82 percent), Greenwood 135 (13.38 percent), Newry 59 (5.83 percent) and Woodstock 202 (20.01 percent).

The total assessment for the five towns in the district for FY '89, less Adult Ed. was $2,032,578 or an average of $2,064 per pupil. Without any increase in the school budget for FY '90, Newry would still have an increase of 51.2 percent in the school assessment, including Adult Ed.

With the new valuations, and using the FY '89 figure and the number of pupils as of April 1, Newry selectmen calculate that the FY '90 assessments to towns would be Andover $310,869 ($1,717 per pupil), Bethel $655,383 ($1,540 per pupil), Greenwood $297,006 ($2,206 per pupil), Newry $485,241 ($8,224 per pupil) and Woodstock $325,715 ($1,612 per pupil). The above figures do not include Adult Ed.

FY '89 per pupil costs were Andover $2,843, Bethel $1,533, Greenwood, $2,203, Newry $5,331 and Woodstock $1,718, the Newry selectmen noted.

Heat wave sends people to beaches and in search of scarce air conditioners

It's not the heat, it's the humidity, they say. But what do they know. In western Maine it seemed to be the heat and the humidity that was making people almost long for winter.

Not all people, however. David Salway, of Albany, professed to be enjoying the seemingly endless series of 90-degrees-plus days. "It keeps you loose," he said.

For most people, the water or an air conditioned house was the place to be. Tom House, of Bryant Pond, said even his girls were staying inside—as was he, when not working. "I got an air conditioner in there," he said. "I ain't foolish."

In fact, he was smart enough to purchase his air conditioner a couple of years ago. This summer—unless one acted weeks ago, the units are gone.

"Would you believe we've been wiped out for three weeks," Jeri Brooks, of Brooks Bros. Hardware, wondered aloud. "They're back-ordered, but we just can't get them." Brother Jack said he sold all 10 that the store had and could have sold 50. He noted that a few years back the store wouldn't have sold one.

With air conditioners unavailable, many turned to electric fans. Brooks Bros. sold out its stock of nearly 40 of those as well. They hope to have more this week.

For those who went to nearby towns looking for air conditioners, the story was the same. Mark Prevost, manager of Bouffard's, in Rumford, said "If I'd have had 300 of them I could have sold them all." As things turned out, he sold 50, which was all he could get hold of. "There's none to be found. We've had four calls this morning and it's just 10 [minutes] past [nine]. It's incredible."

At Stanley's Furniture, in Rumford, owner Rob Dupill said people should have thought ahead at the beginning of the summer instead of waiting until it was too late. "They're now history and there's no more to be had," he said. Through wheeling and dealing he did manage to get a second shipment, but they went as quickly as the first shipment. All told, he sold about 100, compared to a normal summer run of 45-50.

At Top Furniture, in Berlin, N.H. the story was the same. They've been sold out for a month.

The Bethel selectmen held their first session in their new meeting room last week, and Chairman Arlan Jordy said it would be their last session there unless the temperature was cooled some. Fortunately for them, last Wednesday's Citizen had an air conditioner for sale in the classifieds. The town office bought it right up and it was installed and running last Thursday.

The Bethel Area Health Center reported a number of people coming in for heat exhaustion. A nurse said the warning signs of this problem are tiredness, paleness, perspiring and weakness in the legs. The remedy is to get out of the sun, cool off with a fan, drink liquids—especially salt water.

Should the person be suffering from heat stroke, the body should be cooled down quickly and medical assistance should be sought. The warning signs of heat stroke are red complexion and dry skin. The health center nurse said, however, that she has not seen any cases of heat stroke so far this summer.

GEORGIA'S DAIRY JOY SOLD

Georgia's Dairy Joy, in the Steam Mill section of Bethel, has been sold to a Florida couple.

Georgiana and Ken Hamel sold their popular ice cream and snack counter to Cheryl and Richard Breaux, of Ft. Myers, Fla. Mr. Breaux had lived in this area years ago, working for Oakhurst Dairy. The couple has already moved to Bethel.

The sale included the dairy bar and the adjacent garage, which most recently was being leased by a rug dealer from New Hampshire.

The agency that handled the sale was Early Real Estate. Joe Gaidis obtained the listing, while Don Taylor concluded the sale.

Al Saunders scheduled to face trial in October

A date of Oct. 31 has tentatively been set for the trial of Alfred Saunders, of Bethel, on the charge that he murdered his second wife, Joan, in February 1981.

Mr. Saunders has been held at the Oxford County Jail since last August, when State Police discovered Joan Saunders' body buried beneath the concrete floor in the basement of their former home on Bird Hill in Bethel.

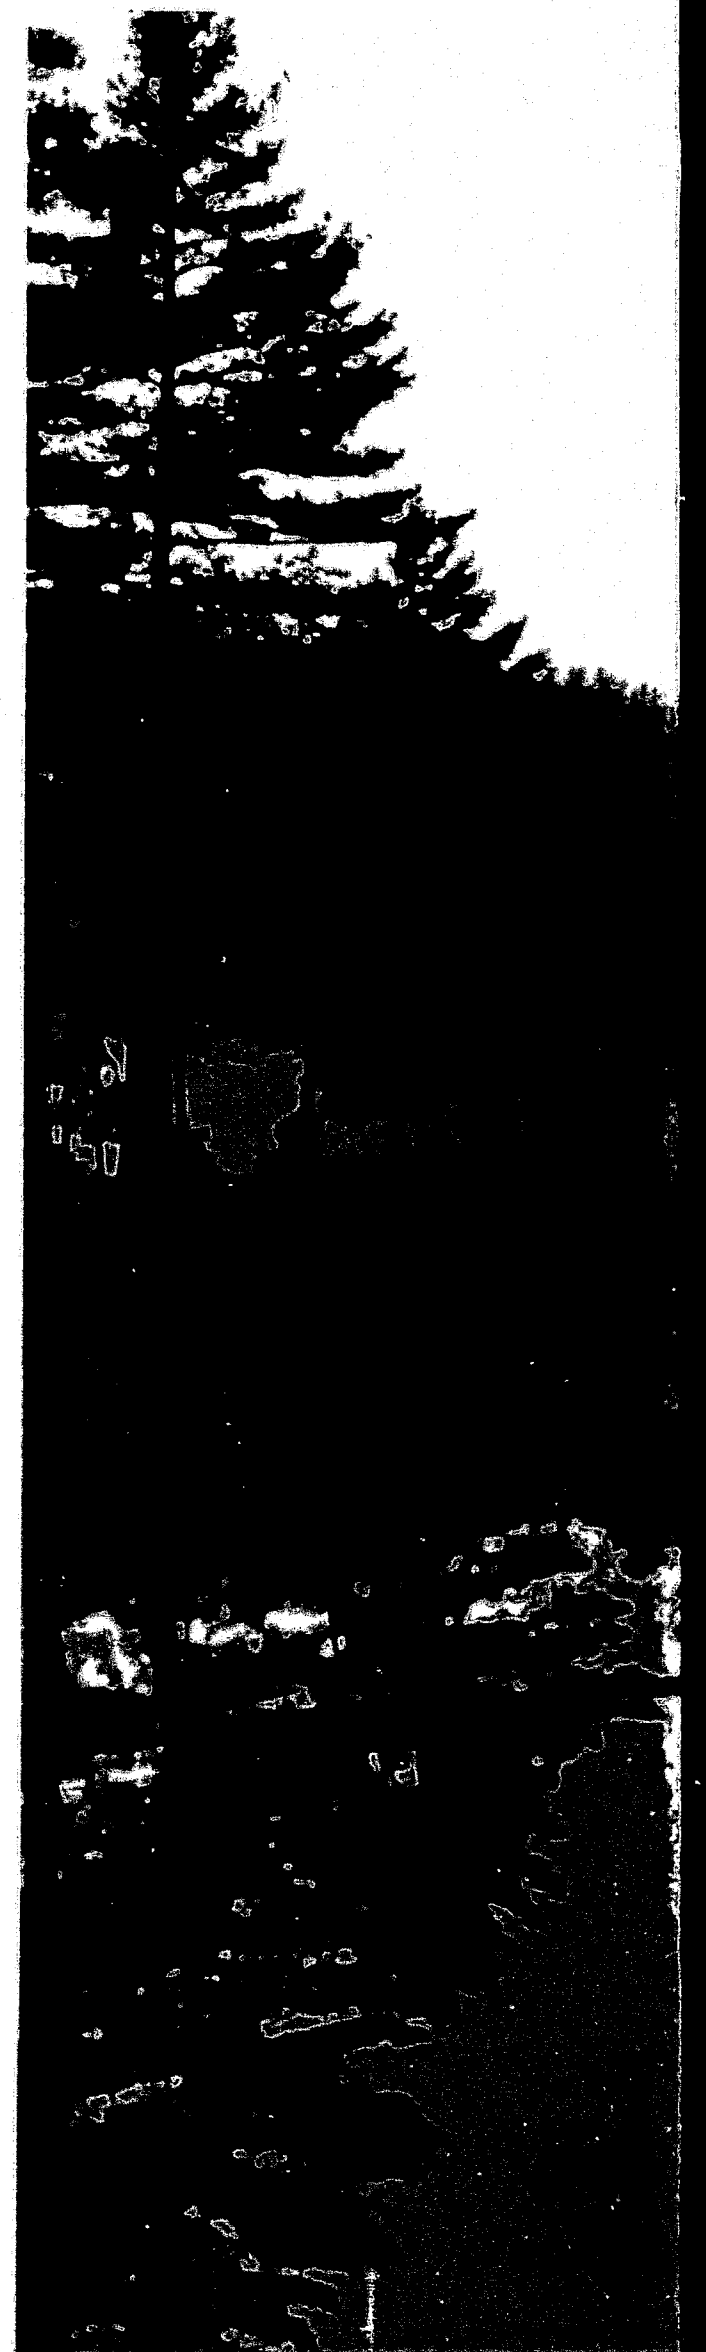

An autopsy revealed that Mrs. Saunders died from two wounds from a .12 gauge shotgun.

The state charges that Mr. Saunders shot her, then buried her to cover up the murder. He admits to burying her body, but contends that she shot herself during a domestic argument and that he buried her in order to protect their two young sons.

Mr. Saunders' trial is scheduled to be held in the Oxford County Superior Court. However, his court-appointed attorney, E. James Burke, of Lewiston, has filed a motion for a change of venue. If that motion is approved, Mr. Saunders' trial would be moved from Oxford County, and the date would probably be pushed back still further.

Mr. Saunders was held without bail until May of this year, when he was ruled eligible for bail. The terms of the bail required that he raise $175,000 in actual cash, or that he find people willing to post $700,000 in surety property.

Within a week of the ruling, friends of Mr. Saunders had agreed to post $150,000 worth of property, but Superior Court Clerk Donna Howe reports that since that time he has been able to raise only an additional $20,000, leaving him well short of the amount necessary to secure his release.

Surplus food sites cut; lack of funding blamed

Community Concepts, Inc. Special Services Director Lynda Haegele reported that rising costs of distribution and limitations on the availability of funds for administration are forcing severe cutbacks in the popular surplus food distribution program.

The distribution of surplus agricultural products (cheese, powdered milk, flour, butter, rice and other commodities) has had bipartisan support in Congress and was considered by the administration as a partial answer to the needs of low-income families in America and as a means of putting to good use the accumulating bounty resulting from the price support system for U.S. agriculture.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) program, which is administered in Maine through Community Action Program (CAP) agencies such as Community Concepts, Inc., in recent years has suffered from inadequate funding, especially as the cost of trucking, storage, refrigeration and other costs related to distribution have continued to rise, Ms. Haegele said.

She said Community Concepts has been able to sustain its program with the help of over 500 volunteers who help with the mailings to over 10,000 low-income families, unload trucks, process applications and assist the 7,500 citizens who come to the distribution sites. Special deliveries are also made to the homebound.

"The cost of distribution, despite these measures and the reduction of distribution sites [last year], are now in excess of administrative funds for the program and further cutbacks are necessary," said Ms. Haegele.

G-W transfer station

Both the Greenstock and West Paris transfer stations are currently shipping their solid waste to the Norridgewock facility. But the Greenstock station is doing so without a contract, and the status of the West Paris contract is "somewhat fuzzy"—in the words of Selectman Duane Abbott.

Greenwood Selectwoman Marie Bartlett said she has placed a number of calls to CWS President Alva Achorn since the Greenstock contract expired in June, but that he has not yet discussed terms for a new contract.

"When I last talked to him, he said: 'Give me two or three weeks,' Mrs. Bartlett said. 'I'm still waiting to hear back from him.'"

Because of restrictions placed by BEP on the amount of out-of-state trash that can be accepted in the landfill expansion, Mr. Achorn has said CWS is signing no new contracts with municipalities and beginning in January will no longer accept waste from municipalities without contracts.

CWS claims that the higher prices it charges for out-of-state waste have been subsidizing Maine customers.

If Greenstock is able to obtain a new contract, Mrs. Bartlett said, the cost would certainly be higher than under the old contract, and it's unclear how long the contract would be for.

"Everything is up in the air," she said. West Paris officials face similar uncertainties. The contract for the West Paris transfer station expired in April but contained an "automatic renewability" clause for one year, Mr. Abbott said.

"But there are a lot of 'ifs,' he added.

West Paris officials have attempted to discuss a new contract with CWS. Mr. Abbott said, but because of uncertainties surrounding the status of the Norridgewock landfill, CWS officials "really weren't interested in talking yet."

The only certainty in the whole matter, both Mr. Abbott and Mrs. Bartlett agree, is that costs are going up. "Whatever happens, we're looking at a substantial increase in rate," Mr. Abbott said.

FEDS GIVE STATE $61 MILLION

Maine's Congressional delegation announced this week that various companies, organizations, agencies and municipalities in the state were awarded over $61 million in federal grants and contracts during the month of June.

While the largest single sum went for a Navy contract with Bath Iron Works, there were scores of other grants, including one from the Environmental Protection Agency for $3 million to the Town of Washburn for the design and construction of sewer system equipment.

Moratorium

The Town of Newry hereby declare that an emergency exists affecting general health, welfare, community life and the public peace.

One of the organizers of the petition drive said it was the recent announcement by the Bethel selectmen that they were considering closing the landfill to neighboring towns that gave the impetus to press for the moratorium.

At Tuesday's Board of Selectmen meeting, it was decided to hold a public hearing in the moratorium proposal on Aug. 29 and to put it to a vote at a special town meeting Sept. 12.

without going to the bother and expense of a formal application, and it would prevent them from taking matters to the Appeals Board prior to appearing before the Planning Board.

Other matters on tonight's Planning Board agenda include a sketch presentation by Ted Chadbourne, a Site Plan Review application by Jackie Mayo for a beauty salon, a Shoreland Zoning application by Jim Moir, a change-of-use by Betsy Cooper and a discussion on parking for a proposed restaurant at the Riverview Motel.

Newry selectmen see their town paying more of school budget

Newry's preliminary state valuation showed the largest increase of any town in SAD #44. (See last week's Citizen for complete listing of area towns' preliminary state valuations.)

Newry selectmen calculate that, given the new valuations Andover would pay 14.3 percent of the school district assessment, Bethel 31.9 percent, Greenwood 14.3 percent, Newry 23.3 percent, and Woodstock 15.6 percent.

As of April 1 there were 1,009 pupils in the five towns of SAD #44. At that time Andover had 181 (17.94 percent), Bethel 432 (42.82 percent), Greenwood 135 (13.38 percent), Newry 59 (5.85 percent) and Woodstock 202 (20.01 percent).

The total assessment for the five towns in the district for FY '89, less Adult Ed, was $2,032,578 or an average of $2,044 per pupil. Without any increase in the school budget for FY '90, Newry would still have an increase of 51.2 percent in the school assessment, including Adult Ed.

With the new valuations, and using the FY '89 figure and the number of pupils as of April 1, Newry selectmen calculate that the FY '90 assessments to towns would be Andover $310,869 ($1,717 per pupil), Bethel $665,383 ($1,540 per pupil), Greenwood $297,806 ($2,206 per pupil), Newry $485,241 ($3,224 per pupil) and Woodstock $325,715 ($1,612 per pupil). The above figures do not include Adult Ed.

FY '89 per pupil costs were Andover $2,843, Bethel $1,533, Greenwood $2,203, Newry $5,531 and Woodstock $1,718, the Newry selectmen noted.

Heat wave sends people to beaches and in search of scarce air conditioners

It's not the heat, it's the humidity, they say. But what do they know. In western Maine it seemed to be the heat and the humidity that was making people almost long for winter.

Not all people, however. David Salway, of Albany, professed to be enjoying the seemingly endless series of 90-degree-plus days. "It keeps you loose," he said.

For most people, the water or an air conditioned house was the place to be. Tom House, of Bryant Pond, said even his girls were staying inside—as was he, when not working. "I got an air conditioner in there," he said. "I ain't foolish."

In fact, he was smart enough to purchase his air conditioner a couple of years ago. This summer—unless one acted weeks ago, the units are gone.

"Would you believe we've been wiped out for three weeks," Jeri Brooks, of Brooks Bros. Hardware, wondered aloud. "They're back-ordered, but we just can't get them." Brother Jack said he sold all 10 that the store had and could have sold 50. He noted that a few years back the store wouldn't have sold one.

With air conditioners unavailable, many turned to electric fans. Brooks Bros. sold out its stock of nearly 40 of those as well. They hope to have more this week.

For those who went to nearby towns looking for air conditioners, the story was the same. Mark Prevost, manager of Bouffard's, in Rumford, said "If I'd have had 300 of them I could have sold them all." As things turned out, he sold 50, which was all he could get hold of.

"There's none to be found. We've had four calls this morning and it's just 10 [minutes] past [nine]. It's incredible."

At Stanley's Furniture, in Rumford, owner Rob Dupill said people should have thought ahead at the beginning of the summer instead of waiting until it was too late. "They're new history and there's no more to be had," he said. Through wheeling and dealing he did manage to get a second shipment, but they went as quickly as the first shipment. All told, he sold about 100, compared to a normal summer run of 45-50.

At Top Furniture, in Berlin, N.H. the story was the same. They've been sold out for a month.

The Bethel selectmen held their first session in their new meeting room last week, and Chairman Arlan Jodrey said it would be their last session there unless the temperature was cooled some. Fortunately for them, last Wednesday's Citizen had an air conditioner for sale in the classifieds. The town office bought it right up and it was installed and running last Thursday.

The Bethel Area Health Center reported a number of people coming in for heat exhaustion. A nurse said the warning signs of this problem are tiredness, paleness, perspiring and weakness in the legs. The remedy is to get out of the sun, cool off with a fan, drink liquids—especially salt water.

Should the person be suffering from heat stroke, the body should be cooled down quickly and medical assistance should be sought. The warning signs of heat stroke are red complexion and dry skin. The health center nurse said, however, that she has not seen any cases of heat stroke so far this summer.

It's tolerable weather if you're at your camp—perhaps here on Lake Christopher—but if you've got to go to work you've probably been somewhat irritable and unproductive. Of course, think about what it must be like to be working in the big city this summer. (Photo by Michael Daniels)

NEW FACE AT BARBER SHOP

Gail Jordan has joined the staff of the Bethel Barber Shop.

Ms. Jordan is an experienced barber/stylist of eight years. She formerly worked in the Buxton area and Livermore Falls.

She holds an active instructor's licence and teaches part-time at Hanson's Barber School, in Lewiston.

She is anxious to meet people of the community and to serve them with their haircutting and styling needs. She is at the Bethel Barber Shop Monday, Thursday and Friday, 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m., or Saturday, 8:30 a.m.-2 p.m. No appointment is necessary.

Beginning with the September distribution there will be only three sites in Androscoggin and Oxford counties: Norway, National Guard Armory, Sept. 13, 9-3; Rumford, National Guard Armory, Sept. 15, 9-3; Lewiston, Multi-Purpose Center, Sept. 26, 9-4 and Sept. 27, 9-3.

"It is our expectation," said Ms. Haegele, "that this program can go forward within the administrative funds now available. Community Concepts will do everything possible to reduce the inconvenience this schedule inevitably causes for many of our elderly neighbors in rural areas and others who find it difficult to travel easily to pick up their food products."

Please join.

District to seek funds for tennis courts and track facilities at Telstar

The SAD #44 Board of Directors Monday night authorized Superintendent DeWane Craig to seek sources of state or federal funding for tennis courts and track facilities at the Telstar complex.

Telstar currently has no tennis courts, and the track teams must practice on school driveways and nearby roads.

At their regular meeting Monday evening, board members overwhelmingly supported the idea of tennis and track facilities, but only so long as district taxpayers would not be asked to pay (directly) for them.

Noting that while he was strongly in favor of encouraging sports, such as tennis, which can be a lifelong interest, Director Stan Howe, of Bethel, said: "I would have very serious reservations about going ahead if it involves any local money. We should go into it with our eyes open."

Director Nancy Dewing, of Greenwood, described the sports facilities as "nice to have, but only if the money comes from elsewhere."

"It would be a better use of federal funds than paving the airport," Director John Brown, of Bethel, said, to the evident agreement of the rest of the board.

Monday's vote authorizes Supt. Craig to seek funding sources. Further board action would be required before the district could go ahead with construction.

Supt. Craig estimated that even if he is successful in his search for funds, it would still be at least two years before construction would begin.

In other action at Monday's meeting, held in Andover, Supt. Craig informed the board that the district had received a $2,500 grant from the State Aspirations Compact and $2,200 from the state toward the Funding for Entrepreneurship Training for Small Businesses program.

Telstar Principal Ted Davis described both programs for the board. He also noted that for four days in early September 24 Telstar students and 24 Gould Academy students, along with four staff members from each school and NTL staff members, would participate in a "Leadership Workshop" on the Gould Academy campus.

In personnel actions Monday evening, the board accepted the resignation of Jacklyn Cramton as speech clinician and made the following extra-curricular appointments: Susan Stephenson, as high school yearbook advisor; Linda Olson, as high school student council advisor; and Thomas Remington as middle school assistant soccer coach.

Monday evening's meeting was held at the Andover Elementary School. The following directors did not attend: Richard Crandall and Cheryl Eliot, both of Bethel; John Foster, Andover; Margaret Hand and Denise Putnam, both of Woodstock; and Gail Sysko, Newry.

Hunting starts Aug. 20 for bear; deer, Oct. 29

The 1988 Maine hunting seasons schedule, which is effective through March 31, 1989, is as follows: Bear: Aug. 20 to Nov. 30.

Moose (by permit only): Oct. 17 to Oct. 22.

Deer: Maine-resident only day, Oct. 29; firearms season, Oct. 31-Nov. 26; archery, Oct. 1 to Oct. 28; muzzleloader, Nov. 28 to Dec. 3. The limit on deer is one deer per year regardless of season or method of taking. Only deer with a minimum antler length of three inches may be taken statewide from Oct. 29 to Dec. 3, except that deer of either sex may be taken in designated deer management districts by persons possessing Any-Deer Permits.

Andover Olde Home Days 1988

DON BARRETT AND CHUCK BILLS saw their way rapidly through a log during the woodsmen's contest, which (as is evident) drew a good-size crowd.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT'S always-popular chicken barbecue was once again a sellout. The smoke-eaters dished out 400 dinners to appreciative diners.

IN THE WOODSMEN'S CONTEST, the Woodsmen of the Day was Don Lambert, of St. Gilles, Quebec, Canada. Above, he stands with Jane Rich—one of the organizers of Olde Home Days—and Alan Chapman—the organizer of the woodsmen's contest. Boise Cascade put up $600 in prize money for the competitors.

THIS IS WHAT HAPPENS when you couple two hoses together not quite properly and then tell the person at the hydrant to turn on the water. You get water—or rather, watered. The action came during the wet hose laying event at the firemen's muster.

ANTIQUE AND CLASSIC CARS led the parade, joining the procession midway, as they came from Akers field where about 70 of them were on display.

ONE OF THE MANY FLOATS in the parade warned people that property values in Andover would plummet if the proposed CMP powerline is allowed to go through town.

Olde Home Days

Cascade. Alan Chapman managed the contest.

In the ever-popular Cow Chip Flip contest, run by Woody and Ellen Greeke, the best toss of the day belonged to Mike Martin, of Rumford, who pitched his portion of manure 107 feet. He was crowned Cow Chip King. The Cow Chip Queen was Lorie McPherson, who chucked her chip 102 feet. In the junior division (14 and under), the Champ was Peter Pearce, of Rumford, who threw it 100 feet. Princess Heather Bernard managed a toss of 75 feet.

In the arm-wrestling contest, Chris Merrill won the men's heavyweight division (186 pounds and up) while Chris Bean was the winner in the middleweight division (166-185); Bill McPherson was the winner in the lightweight division (145-165).

Among the women, Ronnie Pelletier won in the 36 and older division while former Telstar athlete Donna Dorey won in the 18-25 division. Among the younger set, Brian Carver won in the boys' 16-18 division while Chris Durant won in the 13-15 division and Adam Hart won the 10-12 division. Among 16-18-year-old girls, November Yates was the champ, while Linda Salway was the winner in the 13-15 division and Jenny Percival in the 10-12 division.

The flower show, as always, drew numerous entries. Results were as follows:

•Ellis River Walk (wildflowers): 1st, Fran Kerchner; 2nd, Ellen Greeke; 3rd, Julia Bribbin; honorable mention, Bev Swan.

•The Common (teen fun): 1st, Jenny Percival.

•The Town Hall (gala evening): 1st, Roger Mills; 2nd, Julia Gribbin; 3rd, Stephanie Percival.

•The Church (white flowers in an antique container): 1st, Ellen Greeke (also Judges Award); 2nd, Julia Gribbin; 3rd, Jane Rich; honorable mention, Ronica Moulton.

•The Library (book, song, movie or song title): Childrens: 1st (tie), Charles Kerchner and Bridgid Gribbin; 3rd, Carrie Hudspeth; 4th David Hudspeth; honorable mention, Lisa Kerchner and Beth Kerchner.

•The Library, Teens and Adults: 1st, Jane Rich ("Here Comes Peter Cottontail"); 2nd, Fran Kerchner ("Turkey in the Straw"); 3rd, Linda Percival ("Hello Dolly").

•The Schoolhouse (arrangement in lunch pail or basket): 1st, Betty Miserochi and Ellen Greeke (also Best of Show); 2nd, Ronica Moulton; 3rd, Julia Gribbin; honorable mention, Jane Rich, Lyrra and Yrral Yates, Charles Kerchner, Lisa Kerchner.

•Flat Rocks (tray arrangements and dish garden): Children up to 12: 1st, Angela Percival; 2nd, Darcy and Daren Morse; 3rd, Brenna Glibbon; 4th, Chad Kerchner; 5th, Jennifer Percival; honorable mention, Peter Miserochi, Deanna Davis, Beth Kerchner, August Yates.

•The Merrill House (houseplant): 1st, Dinah Cutting; 2nd, Trudy Akers; 3rd, Beverly Swan.

•The Merrill House (hanging houseplants): 1st, Sue Wyman; 2nd, Jane Rich.

•Mile Square (single specimen): 1st, Bev Swan; 2nd, Beth Kerchner.

•The Fair Grounds (vegetables): 1st, Joy Huber and Randy Ellis.

Aside from all the competitive events, there was also lots of plain old good times, such as a dunking booth, flea market tables, a large auction, a fashion show organized by Louise Horne, of Rumford.

For the first time ever, Olde Home Days stretched to three days. It began with a talent show at the Town Hall Friday night and concluded with a horse show at the ring of the Ellis River Riders on Sunday.

Also for the first time ever, Olde Home Days was organized by a committee, whose members included Jane Rich, Al Legault, Leon Simmons, Bev Swan, Betty Fisher, Alice Dixon, Debbie Cayer and Judy Michaud.

The beneficiary of the rental of space on the Common was the Service Circle—the town's benevolent association.

Disregarding the heat, a number of area politicians came up for the big day. They included Phyllis and Ed Erwin, DEBORAH WELCH AND LITTLE DANIELLE watched over one of the trinket tables on the Common, aided by Ginger, the dog. The Welches are from Rumford; Ginger is from Upton.

THE ELLIS RIVER RIDERS CLUB held a horse show Sunday, with entrants from all over the area. Above, horsewomen in an English Equitation class put their horses into a canter.

Norm Ferguson, Jr., Ann Marshall and Gary Bickford.

Also showing their flag were members of No Thank Q Hydro-Quebec—the group that is opposing the proposal to build a high-voltage power line through western Maine.

TOO LITTLE, TOO LATE—Keiser Homes' Rick Whitney crosses the plate with the home team's first run in the lead off game of the Pine Tree League Championship Series, held last week at Perham Field in West Paris. The Lewiston A's had already jumped out to an 8-0 second inning lead, however, and they never looked back, cruising to an easy 15-4 victory. The Westies rebounded in the second game, however, defeating the A's 5-3 and evening the best-of-five series at a game apiece. Game three was played last night (Tuesday) in West Paris and game four is scheduled for tomorrow (Thursday) evening at 5:30 in Lewiston. If a fifth game is necessary it will be played in West Paris at 4 p.m. on Sunday.

Mrs. Phyllis Barnhill and daughter, Brenda, of Sarasota, Fla., are visiting relatives and friends in Maine this week. Dirk Smith, of Bucksport, is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Harrington for the month of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Tyler visited Carlton Tyler in Carmel last weekend. Mrs. Velora Tuominen and daughter, Brianna, of Yarmouth, were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kimball, all last week.

Mrs. Josephine Tyler and Chris, of Dixfield, called on me July 30 before going to the home of Mrs. Cindi Cox and demonstrating Christmas Around the World products for Laurie Cox. Mrs. June Stearns, of Rumford Corner, and I were in Gorham shopping July 29. On Aug. 2 Rick Westleigh, of Rumford Corner, picked me up to have dinner with them and attend a Crystal Party that evening. On July 31 Mrs. Agnes Foster, of Andover, and Mrs. Denise Festina, of Saco, came after me to celebrate David Foster's birthday - his 16th. John Foster, of Andover, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stearns, of Rumford Corner, were here and John and Dick mowed the lawn on Aug. 3.

Albert Foster has six little kittens mostly gray and white. Also several of them have large feet - one gray and white male has six toes on his hind legs and live on his front feet. Anyone who would like a kitten is welcome to come get one or two or whatever.

Alder River Grange will hold a meeting on Aug. 12 at the hall at 7:30 p.m. We need members to come to meetings as we are seriously talking of closing down. If the Grange closes, we lose the hall for all other social functions.

By COLISTA MORGAN

This is August, the month of my birth. The month of many things which greet the morning sun as cows trail out slowly to laze away the day. It is that time when we realize that summer is not endless and autumn is just up the valley. A time I have heard since I was very young: "Six weeks from the first katydid to the first frost."

The misty dawns are plentiful, as are the daisies and the goldenrods.

When I walk or ride down the road, I may see a flash of crimson sunac. I think, "It shouldn't be here for this isn't fall."

There's the smell of corn pollen. Wild grapes, green as their leaves hang from their vines.

Joe-Pye weeds start to tingle the coves. Along ditches Jewel-weed with the meandering branches hang out their "earrings" of orange or pink.

Fragrant lavender and white florets of the common milkweeds grow almost everywhere. The farmer doesn't like them but the monarch butterflies do for they are among the most common of late summer flowers - special spangles until the maples turn to crimson and gold.

Purple color has been building up with August's warmth and sunlight; burdocks, thistles, ironweed, gentians and asters which create the most attention; they bear royalty.

Queen-Anne's Lace with a drift of puffy white nods at the roadsides or in the fields among the Brown-eyed Susans.

The bloom of the squash opens its eyes to the sun.

Seeds come to maturity. Nights lengthen, dusk to dawn and there's the evening Primrose fragrance and the Moon of Green Corn.

Cardinal-flower, spikes of flame, are seen on the shore of the pond. It's pickling time, preserving time. It's a blackberry pie and a jar of jelly.

It's a fox barking in the night, fledgling on the wing, small rabbits scurrying and woodchucks beginning to lay on fat for their long winter sleep.

It's fireflies putting away their lamps for the season.

August is fiddlers in the night, insect-loud, making the darkness echo with frenzy - crickets, katydids and others. Their lives are fast passing - their clocks tick faster than ours and they begin to run down in mid-September.

I mustn't forget the Bee-Balm which is so well liked by the hummingbird and is grown around my house.

Yes, August is when summer begins to fray away, the green prime of life is passing but has a still-whisper of autumn and its glory!

It's August in our valley.

The hot, humid days have kept me lazy. I have found it hard to mow lawns and keep the grounds as they should be.

David and Mary Holt were at the farm on Sunday and I joined the family for dinner. Their other callers were the Larry Durgin family and Mr. and Mrs. Fran Piccirilli.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Inman entertained several of their family on Saturday. I had an early birthday gift - a lovely wind chime. It wasn't just delivered but was put up also. When I hear it tinkle I'll think of those friends and maybe I'll learn to like the wind. Many thanks to my nice neighbors.

Callers of Rena Curtis were her son, Albert, wife and children, of Buckfield. Ed and Irene Heikkinen and Lauri and Annie Kent, of Livermore.

The hot, humid days have kept me lazy. I have found it hard to mow lawns and keep the grounds as they should be. David and Mary Holt were at the farm on Sunday and I joined the family for dinner. Their other callers were the Larry Durgun family and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Fierovella.

On Saturday the pond was a busy and exciting place with boat riding and water skiing.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Inman entertained several of their family on Saturday. I had an early birthday gift—a lovely wind chime. It wasn't just delivered but was put up also. When I hear it tinkle I'll think of those friends and maybe I'll learn to like the wind. Many thanks to my nice neighbors.

Callers of Rena Curtis were her son, Albert, wife and children, of Buckfield, Ed and Irene Heikumen and Lauri and Anne Keen, of Laverne.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

Approximately 35 hardy members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society braved the summer heat last Thursday to attend the August meeting, held on the back lawn of the Dr. Moses Mason House. This was the ideal antidote to the humidity since a strong breeze provided comfort and relief from the 90 degree temperatures.

Speaker for the evening was Jane Radcliffe, of Hallowell, who has spent much of her professional life studying 19th century wall decoration. A native of Boston, Ms. Radcliffe spent her formative years in Massachusetts and Connecticut, graduating from Connecticut College. She received an M.A. in American History from the University of Connecticut through a program emphasizing historical museum work in cooperation with Old Sturbridge Village. For the past 17 years she served as registrar and curator of domestic and fine arts at the Maine State Museum. She left the museum this spring to pursue varied interests, including serving as a consultant for computerization of collection records for small museums and to continue her research and analysis of early 19th century Maine painted wall decorations.

Ms. Radcliffe focused on Maine examples of wall stencils and murals in the first half of the 19th century. Stenciling preceded wall murals and was strongly influenced by the work of Moses Eaton (1753-1833). Eaton's influence is clear, according to Ms. Radcliffe, upon the two best-known wall murals in Maine, Rufus Porter and his nephew Jonathan Porter, whose work was popular in Maine from the 1820s to the 1840s. Stenciling and then mural painting became popular in the early 19th century since they were cheaper than imported French wallpapers, which were in vogue during the 18th century. Stencils and wall murals included numerous American designs and scenes. This folk art lost its popularity as Victorian Americans looked abroad again for inspiration and demanded a more refined expression of art for interior decoration. Ms. Radcliffe illustrated her lecture with numerous examples of Maine stencils and murals.

This program was one of a series commemorating the 175th anniversary of the construction of the Dr. Moses Mason House, which is the only museum in Maine open to the public with genuine Rufus Porter murals.

A short business meeting preceded the program. President Marvin Owunga announced that the 23rd annual meeting would be held Sept. 1 and that the speaker would be Dr. Joseph Conforti, director of the New England Studies Program, University of Southern Maine, who will be speaking on the subject "Reinventing New England."

The meeting will be preceded by the traditional potluck supper and will also feature the presentation of the second annual Marjorie MacArthur Noll Volunteer Service Award.

The "Artifact of the Month" was announced as a framed photograph of Gould Academy showing the whole school in 1928, a gift of Martha Von Zint.

The president reminded those present that Sudbury Canada Days would be held Aug. 13 and 14 and that volunteers are always needed to make certain the event proceeds with its usual efficiency.

A nominating committee was elected to report a slate of officers and trustees for the next meeting: Charles Raymond, representing the trustees, and Betty Perkins and Edna York from the general membership.

The latest contributors to the 1988 Bethel Historical Society Endowment Campaign include Fillmore and Shirley Clough, Bethel; Paul and Helen Judkins, Dixfield, in memory of Doris O. Lord; Dorothy K. Small, Biddeford; Guy and Nancy Butler, Millinocket, in memory of Kimball Ames; Bradley and Judy Barker, Bethel, in memory of Frank and Maude Chapman; Herbert and Ruth Kirtledge, Bethel, in memory of Laurier Kirtledge; Edna Fallon, Bethel; Alice R. Stewart, Orono; Edmond and Sudie Vachon, Bethel; Paul Given, New Gloucester; Esther Crockett, Bethel, in memory of Nannette Foster Crockett; Hazel Newell, Locke Mills; Glenn E. Swan, Mexico, in memory of Charles V. Swan; Dennis Wilson, Bethel; Richard and Virginia Williamson, Upton, in memory of Esther Williamson; Ruth and Jaime Grover, Bethel, in memory of John E. Grover; Bessie Bennett, West Peru, in memory of Lester Bennett; Rupert and Eva Conroy, Auburn, in memory of Sylvia Swan Conroy; Earlean and Mary Paine, Bethel; Mariann and Hugh Durgun, Newry, in memory of John E. Grover; Ruth W. Wight, Bethel, in memory of Marjorie Cummings; Daisy M. LeClair, in memory of Syll LeClair. Much appreciation is expressed to all of the above for their generosity, which has brought the total donations this year to $2,145 toward meeting the $7,500 goal. Fifty donors have contributed to date.

LOOKING BACKWARD

10 Years Ago: Cement work for the new Jackson-Silver Post, American Legion building in Locke Mills was completed. Local cemeteries were the feature of the monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society. Summer playground completed a very successful summer. An art exhibit was held on the Common. Leland Mason retired from the U.S. Forest Service after 30 years of service. The Western Maine Art Group presented an exhibit of paintings by Ruth Boynton.

Marriages: Reginald Gilbert and Rebecca S. Doncaster.

Deaths: Mary Leblanc.

20 Years Ago: Harry Mason celebrated his 100th birthday. A new service station was erected on Bridge Street by Albert Buck (now Red Top Truck Stop).

Births: Randall P. Wilson, Lisa M. Jordan.

Marriages: Richard E. York and Cathryn L. Dyrdahl; Romeo J. Orino, Jr. and Barbara Sue Wheeler; Norton M. Brooks and Mavis M. Swan; Jonathan F. Lockwood and Mary Burris.

Deaths: Ismay Hathaway.

30 Years Ago: Former West Bethel teachers and pupils held a reunion. Dutch Elm disease was reported in Fryeburg. The Bethel Inn staff presented a musical revue for the benefit of the Jimmy Fallon Memorial Hospital, Norway, benefitted from the proceeds of a performance of "The Mouse Trap" at Deertrees Theatre, Harrison. Clayton Kendall was badly injured when he was pinned to the ground by a load of birch which fell from a forklift at the Kendall Dowel Mill at West Bethel.

Births: Kathryn M. Deegan, Paul D. Kneeland.

40 Years Ago: Charles and Celia Gorman celebrated their silver wedding anniversary. James C. Locke of Okmulgee, Okla., a great-great-grandson of Samuel Barron Locke, a well-known early citizen of Bethel and builder of the mill at Locke's Mills about 1818, visited Bethel.

Deaths: Lauren L. Lord, Barbara C. Lyon, Vertie Cushman Hutchins.

50 Years Ago: Woodstock Republican Women organized at the town hall. Two hundred American Legion members and

A HARDY BAND of Bethel Historical Society members and friends braved the summer heat to attend the August meeting last week, held on the back lawn of the Dr. Moses Mason House. A strong breeze provided unexpected comfort and relief from the 90 degree temperatures.

Esther and Olive Davis were in Lewiston to see Esther's sister-in-law, who is very ill, in the St. Mary's Hospital. It is her brother, Don Brown's wife, of Livermore.

Several attended the Grange open house Monday, Aug. 1. It was musical night.

Deven Andrews and two children called on me Saturday morning.

Kristene Miclon and children spent a hot day at Old Orchard Beach this week.

Roger Benson hurt his back again in the woods. He made a trip to Lewiston to see his doctor. He has been going twice a week for the treatments on his back since hurting it last spring.

I called on Helvi Tuori at her camp on North Pond and found she had injured her back lifting on a bundle she was taking out of the car three weeks ago. She had also injured her little toe in the house. She is under a doctor's care periodically.

The Willing Workers met Monday night to plan a potluck supper which will be held at the church on Thursday, Aug. 18, at 6 p.m. This supper is for all members and their families. And, since we are trying to build up our membership, we are asking each member to try to bring a guest and her family. Hot and cold drinks and rolls will be provided. Each family should bring one "dish" of something to share. Also we will have a silent auction and are requesting that a white elephant type article be brought to donate to this sale.

The Willing Workers is a community oriented organization. The members are trying to revitalize interest in a community group working together. Meetings are usually held on the first Monday of each month. There will be no regular meeting in September as the first Monday is Labor Day. There will be a food sale on Saturday, Sept. 17, and the next regular meeting is set for the first Monday in October.

Mrs. Jean Gray and children, Ashley, Nathan, Rachel, and Catherine, of LaGrange, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Clements. Trips to the Maine Mall and Santa's Village were highlights of the week visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Clements hosted a cookout on July 31. The rain stopped at noon and the sun shone for the rest of the day, much to the relief of all. Activities included board games, horseshoes, lawn darts and feeding the mother ducks and their ducklings! Guests were Mrs. James Miclon, Ashley, Amanda and Alicia, of South Woodstock; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Miclon and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Boyd, of Buckfield; Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Abbott, of West Paris; Mr. and Mrs. Felix Otero-Otero, of Bryant Pond; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Roy, of Locke Mills; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Peaslee and son, David, of Portland.

250 in town for NTL

NTL's seventh week of summer programs in human resource development and group development is now in session. Over the weekend more than 200 new participants and staff members joined others already here in a continuing program, for the largest NTL population of the summer. There are presently almost 250 persons in residence in Bethel for this week, and it is anticipated that the total group next week will be even larger.

The programs currently being held cover a range of topics that include communication, staff development, facilitating complex system change, and personality theory relating to organizational development.

At Monday's orientation session, Rev. Jean Bass spoke to the new arrivals with some words of welcome from the town and the Bethel/NTL Liaison Committee. NTL's Sunrise Seminars are continuing this week in the lobby of the Bethel Inn Conference Center at 7:30 each morning, Tuesday through Saturday, with presentations by staff members who are currently in Bethel. On Tuesday, Aug. 9, Bernard Mohr and Michael Sadowski spoke on the topic: "So What the Heck is Social Tech?" and on Wednesday morning, Romi Little talked about "Mediating in a Conflict."

Sessions scheduled for the remainder of this week are the following: Thursday, Edie Seashore and Morley Segal, "Why Interventions Work: Personality Theory at Bethel;" Friday, Jane Moosbrucker and Bob Lee, "Personal Transitions: A Part of Complex System Change;" and Saturday, Susan Herman on "Developing a Sense of the Larger Community, or... How the Pieces Fit Together." These 45-minute sessions are open to all persons in the Bethel community who are interested.

ANNUAL TURKEY SUPPER

Plans are being formulated for the 31st annual turkey supper to be held Aug. 18, at the East Stoneham Congregational Church on Route 5. Under the able guidance of Mary Grover, the entire town population is mobilizing for this event. It is truly an exercise in cooperation.

Proceeds from this particular supper are used for the maintenance of the church building, which is in need of a new roof.

Attention will be given to providing for persons who are unable to walk in the serving line. The supper is from 5:30 p.m., with seating both inside and outside.

The menu is the same as in past years: turkey, stuffing, gravy, cranberry sauce, potato chips, sliced tomatoes and cakes, hot homemade rolls and a variety of cakes, with coffee, tea or milk for beverage.

By DORIS C. LAWRENCE

Quite a few people braved the heat, 95 degrees in the shade, and came to our strawberry shortcake supper. It started thundering and lightning so many hurried home to close their windows, but we didn't get a drop of rain. They did other places.

Sunday, July 31, Marie Cordwell fell and broke her right hip. She is at Stephens Memorial Hospital. She has had her arm out of a sling for three weeks from another fall.

Mrs. Rhoda Labbe and two boys are back living in her trailer. She is working at Mecon.

Thursday, July 28, was sure a good thunder shower. A twister, at Joe Kallnowski's blew down a big hackmatack tree, the one the bluebirds liked.

Jeanne Millett, thank you for being there when I needed you.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reidy, from Tyngsboro, Mass., have been touring Nova Scotia and Quebec and spending a few days with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Spencer. Norma has been quite ill, but is much better.

Joe Kallnowski had two ladies from Dixfield visit him one afternoon.

Callers at the "Root" Lawrences were Mr. and Mrs. Dean Pinkham, Mr. and Mrs. Odell Heath, Joe Vatcher, Fannie Whitten, Joe Kallnowski, Jeanne Millett, Troy Vezina, Jimbo Coffin and Richard Felt.

Joe Vatcher says he has put 60 bags of raspberries in the freezer and quite a few string beans.

Mr. and Mrs. "Root" Lawrence called on their niece, Colie Rolfe. She is gaining slow from an automobile accident a month ago. Thursday they visited Mr. and Mrs. Norman Abbott.

The 63rd annual reunion of the descendants of Asa Freeman and Florida Dunham Ellingsworth will be held Sunday, Aug. 14, at the Howard and Lois Ellingsworth camp at Pleasant Pond, West Sumner. In case of rain, the reunion will be held at the Community Hall at North Paris.

Keep your cool, everyone.

High Street West Paris

By VIVA WHITMAN

More hot and humid weather for all to share. No one has to go without it at all. I'm sure lots would like to as well as I would but we don't seem to have any choice so make the best of it in whatever way we can.

Do many of you have hornet nests this year? We have more than our share. Russell got rid of one on the end of the mobile home and about a week ago, we found one out in the little playhouse that was left here when Al moved out. It is under the house so we can't see it. I got it and got rid of them. Got to tear out some rotten boards before we can get to it. Last Sunday when Russell went to one of the out-buildings to get wire to tie up glads, he discovered bees in there and got stung. I kept watch and soon spotted the nest up on the back of a beam. We had a smudge fire and drove the most of them away but he said last night that there were still some, so we have to do a little more work there. There has been a nest in the ground up where Russell was digging out some stumps and Peggy got stung. They thought they had it covered and the bees out of the way but, lo and behold, they had another hole right near by. Russell couldn't seem to get his eye on the hole but I did for him. They have sprayed them and hope they are out of the way but Peggy found a nest growing on the trailer out in the yard up there and has gotten rid of them, so you can see we have had plenty of hornets around. The nice little yellow devils with the vile tempers. Just hope we don't find more.

The string beans are coming along now and have earned some and so has Peggy. They seem to be doing real well. Corn is silking some so it won't be long before that is ready and Russell sure had good luck with his early cauliflower, as we have put up quite a lot of it so far. More to come later. Nothing tastes any better than fresh vegetables out of the garden and the beets and carrots are delicious.

Peggy went to the dance last Saturday night as usual. Sunday she attended a birthday party for Charlotte Cole, given by friends in Norway.

It has been a busy time with Grange and all. We went to Franklin Grange on Monday night where we had music night, an open house meeting and good attendance. A real good program with lots of good music to keep one's toes tapping. Solos were sung by a few folks, the Bedard Trio, from Norway area were there and furnished good music. Rudy Roper, from Bethel, gave us some snappy music on the fiddle and lots more so anyone who didn't come doesn't know what a good time they missed. Even had a little dancing after refreshments. It was late when we got home.

Tuesday night was Pomona at West Paris and we had been asked to put on a skit, so went to supper and the meeting. It was a good one and we had a good time but I was tired from being out two nights in a row.

Been to the doctors a few times this week with my back. Being sick and having to lie around doesn't help it one bit and I usually end up with trouble. Hope it gets over it soon.

Monday evening we had dooryard callers from New Hampshire. Prudence Tremmer and sisters called as they had been down this way car shopping. We hadn't seen them for so long it was good.

NEWS FROM THE BETHEL AREA Health Center

The Bethel Area Health Center has expanded its service to include a comprehensive Occupational Health and Safety Program to assist Western Maine businesses, industries and employees reduce the trauma and cost associated with Worker's Compensation injuries and illnesses.

Services available to employees and employers include medical care for injuries or illnesses related to work; occupational health nursing at the worksite; job hazard analysis and plant health and safety walk-throughs; locally available physical therapy; OSHA medical surveillance; wellness screening and employee assistance programs. Wellness screening will improve the health of employees by identifying health problems before symptoms appear. Workers with newly found health conditions will be referred to their family doctor for followup treatment.

On Sept. 8 the Bethel Area Health Center will hold an informational open house for area business and industry representatives to introduce the Occupational Health and Safety Program can be obtained by calling Gayle Russell at the Health Center: 824-2193.

This is the first in a series of articles that are intended to promote public awareness of this program.

SENIOR CITIZEN MENUS

Monday, Aug. 15: Chicken nuggets, whipped potatoes, broccoli with cheese sauce, whole wheat roll, cran-applesauce.

Tuesday, Aug. 16: Salisbury steak, tomato-potato scallop, cabbage/carrot medley, biscuit, spice cake with frosting.

Thursday, Aug. 18: Stuffed shells with tomato sauce, garden salad, garlic bread, cookies.

to see them if only for a short visit.

High Street is a rather smooth road now after the new tar being put on but some of the driveways have been left waiting for filling. It seems a shame that the driveways couldn't have been fixed as they went along. If one was paved, they did fix it so there wasn't a large drop off but if it was dirt, forget it. We were lucky and ours is good but some of them are terrible and will cost folks to fix them. Just hope folks don't make anymore of a racetrack out of High Street than they were before it was fixed. They sure don't pay any attention to blind drive signs, etc.

Well, haven't received any news from anyone so will call this for this time and wish everyone a good week. Take care in this heat.

West Paris

By MIRIAM INMAN

Ivan Procter Sr. is attending the National Rural Letter Carriers' Convention in Florida this week. His daughter, Dorene Merrill, and granddaughter, Michelle Murch, accompanied him. Couldn't be much hotter down there!

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Inman attended the Kaulback-Wentzell reunion in Mexico last Saturday.

Mrs. Cheryl Sholl, Kirby and Caroline, from Hightstown, N.J., are spending two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dougherty.

Mrs. Vicky Sanborn and Brant spent several days last week with her parents, Vernon and Miriam Inman. Sandy was an overnight guest Friday.

The West Paris Historical Society public supper and dance will be on Saturday, Aug. 13. Supper will be served from 5-7 p.m. and the dance will be from 8-12 p.m. with "The Parisians" furnishing the music.

LEAD SHOT OUTLAWED FOR WATERFOWL HUNTING

Maine waterfowl hunters will be required to use nontoxic (steel) shot statewide this fall, according to the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife.

Lead shotgun pellets were banned last year for waterfowl hunting in southern and coastal portions of the state. At that time Fish and Wildlife Commissioner William Vail stated the ban would be extended throughout the state in 1988.

Maine's adoption of a nontoxic shot requirement accelerates a federal plan calling for a nationwide, phased-in conversion to nontoxic shot by 1991. Fourteen other states have taken similar action on a statewide basis. In all areas of Maine, including offshore waters and coastal islands, the use or possession of ammunition loaded with anything other than nontoxic shot will be illegal in hunting wild ducks, geese, brant, coots or gallinules.

Before restrictions on its use began several years ago, ingested lead shot was estimated to have caused the lead poisoning deaths of over two million waterfowl annually.

JACKSON-SILVER AUXILIARY HOST DINNER FOR TRI-TOWN

The Auxiliary of the Jackson-Silver American Legion Post #68, of Locke Mills, will sponsor a Shop & Save supper party at the Legion Hall on Tuesday, Sept. 13. The party will consist of a lasagna supper, games and prizes of food and gift certificates from the Shop and Save chain of stores.

No tickets can be sold at the door, but they are available from Kathy Bartlett, Leah Deegan, Doreen Benson, Kay McAllister, Olive Rusko or Mary Lyon. All proceeds will go to the Tri-Town Rescue.

BOOKLET GIVES INFORMATION ON POLLEN AND MOLD SPORES

Southern Maine Medical Center, the state's premier pollen counter, has good news for those who are sensitive to airborne allergens. The hospital has just published a free brochure on its pollen count program.

The pamphlet, designed to look just like a purse-sized packet of tissues, contains everything the average person needs to know about the hospital's pollen count program and its usefulness to the general public.

Written by allergist/clinical immunologist Vassily Mihaloff, M.D., the brochure describes what pollen is, how people are affected by pollen, how the pollen count is done and how it can benefit pollen allergy sufferers. It also goes on to describe mold spores and their impact upon those with allergies.

To obtain a free copy of this brochure, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Pollen Count Program, Southern Maine Medical Center, P.O. Box 626, Biddeford, Maine 04005-0626.

JUST CHECKING—Greenwood and Woodstock selectmen spent the weekend in their beach chairs—but at the Greenstock transfer station the lake. The selectmen, here hidden in the shadows, have begun to spot checks at the transfer station in an attempt to limit the volume of coming in from out of town, especially from Bethel residents who find Greenstock facility more convenient than the Bethel landfill on Route 1.

STUDYING THE LAKES—Mike Giunta (in striped shirt), president of the Munity Lakes Association of Greenwood and Woodstock, joins other members of the recently organized association in studying the topography of the nine lakes. As part of its public education efforts, the association recently held an open meeting at the Maine Conservation Camp in Bryant Pond, which camp staff demonstrated methods for measuring the clarity of water.

U. OF M. EXTENSION SERVICE HOSTING RABBIT PRODUCERS

There will be an informational meeting for domestic rabbit producers in the Oxford County area on Wednesday, Aug. 24, at 7 p.m., at the Extension Office on Olson Road, South Paris (next to the Hillside Racquetball Club, one mile north of Market Square on Rt. 26). The purpose of the meeting will be to determine the needs of rabbit producers and establish what directions they may want to follow as an informal regional group.

The possibilities for future directions include forming an informal association of rabbit producers and having additional meetings and invite guest speakers to address a variety of concerns such as production, economics, diseases and marketing.

JUST CHECKING—Greenwood and Woodstock selectmen spent the hot weekend in their beachchairs—but at the Greenstock transfer station, not the lake. The selectmen, here hidden in the shadows, have begun to make spot checks at the transfer station in an attempt to limit the volume of waste coming in from out of town, especially from Bethel residents who find the Greenstock facility more convenient than the Bethel landfill on Route 2.

STUDYING THE LAKES—Mike Giunta (in striped shirt), president of the Community Lakes Association of Greenwood and Woodstock, joins other members of the recently organized association in studying the topography of the towns' nine lakes. As part of its public education efforts, the association recently held an open meeting at the Maine Conservation Camp in Bryant Pond, during which camp staff demonstrated methods for measuring the clarity of lake water.

U. OF M. EXTENSION SERVICE HOSTING RABBIT PRODUCERS

There will be an informational meeting for domestic rabbit producers in the Oxford County area on Wednesday, Aug. 24, at 7 p.m., at the Extension Office on Olson Road, South Paris (next to the Hillside Racquetball Club, one mile north of Market Square on Rt. 25). The purpose of the meeting will be to determine the needs of rabbit producers and establish what directions they may want to follow as an informal regional group.

The possibilities for future directions include forming an informal association of rabbit producers and having additional meetings and invite guest speakers to address a variety of concerns such as production, economics, diseases and marketing.

REP. SNOWE'S CAMPAIGN HQ

Congresswoman Olympia J. Snowe has announced the opening of her 1988 re-election campaign headquarters. Located at 16 North Main St., in Brewer, Ms. Snowe's campaign office can be reached at 889-1881.

The office will house the activities of Rep. Snowe's campaign staff and volunteers during the months leading up to the November election.

Locke Mills

By LORRAINE MILLS

The Greenwood Fire Department will hold a training session Tuesday, Aug. 16, at 6:30 p.m. at the fire station.

The Fire Department will be holding its Cow Chip Casino Saturday, Aug. 20, to help buy new equipment. The state has mandated that fire trucks will have to be equipped with several pieces of new equipment and the proceeds from this will help towards these purchases. Please keep on the lookout for further details in this paper and come have a good time and support your fire department.

The Fire Department Auxiliary will be having a table at the flea market associated with the Cow Chip Casino and would appreciate donations.

The Bryant Pond Senior Citizens held their meeting Thursday at the Locke Mills Town Hall with a dinner put on by the Greenwood Fire Department Auxiliary. Due to the heat there was, understandably, an unusually low turnout. Charlotte Cole was supposed to play her guitar, but it was decided to forego the entertainment until a later and hopefully, cooler date.

Marcia Smith was due home from the hospital in Waterville Saturday to continue her recuperation from surgery.

Ralph Mills plans to spend this week visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mills. John also is on vacation.

I don't know about you, but I like not having so many ads on the front page of the paper. As I was looking through it though, I wondered how much extra work would be involved to do like some of the bigger papers do and group them into related sections. Of course this way, one does have to read every ad to find what one wants so perhaps there is a method to this seeming mad jumble.

Apparently I struck a very responsive chord when I wrote about trying to find my way around Waterville. I heard about a lot of others with amusing and similar tales. The one I enjoyed the most was about a young lady, who shall remain nameless, who gave her mother a call and said, "I'm lost." Her mother asked her where she was calling from and she said she didn't know but she'd find out. She came back and said, "Gardiner." Now I didn't find out where she was supposed to be but from the tone of disbelief still in her mother's voice when she repeated her, "How in the world did you get there?" I take it she was far off course. But that is the whole point, of course, if she knew how she'd gotten there she wouldn't have gone there. I suspect many of our problems would never have arisen if we only knew how we got to where we are and had the knowledge to forego that route.

LOVELL HOLDS ANNUAL FAIR NEXT SATURDAY, AUG. 20th

The 13th annual Arts and Artisans Fair for the benefit of the Charlotte E. Hobbs Memorial Library in Lovell will be held Aug. 20 at the V.F.W. Hall in Lovell, at the corner of Route 93 and the Knights Hill Road, 10-4, rain or shine.

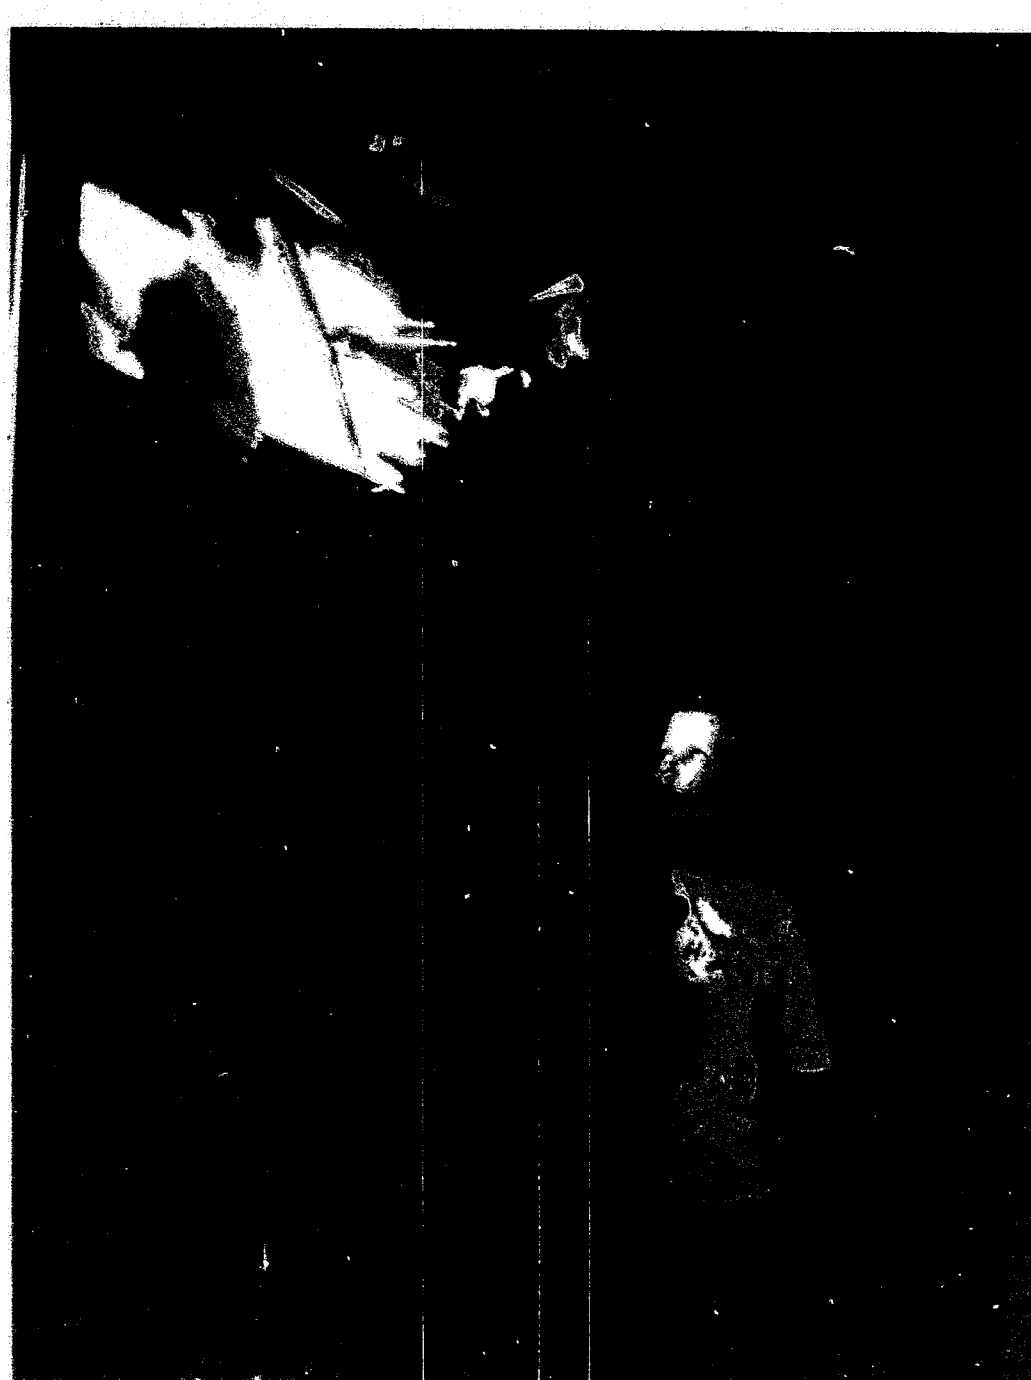

The fair's move to a new location is due to extensive construction underway at the New Suncook School, where it was most recently held.

Up to 50 exhibitors have been selected to participate, from various parts of Maine and New Hampshire and four other states. All were first required to submit samples of the work to be exhibited for acceptance by an outside jury. Several have received national acclaim for their work, including Anda Bihouwer, of Phippsbury, for her handwoven heirloom coverlets, Ken Kantrio, of Lovell, for his work in pewter and silver, and Stephen Zeh for his baskets. Some have participated for many years; others are new to the fair this year.

They will offer a great variety of items, including, but not limited to, beeswax products, ceramics and pottery, dried flowers and wreaths, floor cloths and rugs, folk art in great variety, stained glass, jewelry of copper, pewter, silver and gold, enamel, porcelain and gemstones, lamps and shades, leather goods, wrought iron, needlework including quilts and pillows, stuffed animals and dolls and some specialty clothing, painting, etching, prints, sketches and water colors, paper goods, calendars, cards, cuttings, notes and posters, photography, weaving and handspun yarns, wood carvings and sculpture.

Hand-made sandwiches and refreshments will be available. Drawings for selected articles made by the exhibitors will be held during the day, for which tickets can be purchased in advance locally or at the fair. Used books in good condition will be sold throughout the day at the Lovell Library nearby on Route 5. The Lovell Historical Society will present a display, and from 5:30 p.m. the Lovell Volunteer Fire Co. will serve its annual chicken barbecue at the Fire Barn adjacent to the fair.

Mrs. Barbara Tripp, of Center Lovell, chairs the large committee of members of the Woman's Library Club of Lovell responsible for the fair, assisted by many other residents of Lovell and Sweden.

ZAP! Garrett Brunnett, 7, points to where lightning cut a hole in a barn attached to the Brunnett home on Summit Street, in Bryant Pond. The strike, which hit during a storm Friday night, traveled along the barn's metal roof, blowing off shingles and entering an upstairs apartment where it blew out a TV and stereo. The storm also blew nails from the outside wall across the hallway where they penetrated almost an inch into an interior wall. Fortunately, no one was injured.

FRENCH-BERGERON WEDDING

Laurie Bergeron and Steve French were married at a lovely ceremony in Union Chapel Church last Saturday, Aug. 6, with over 50 guests present.

Rev. Edgar Bailey, Jr., of Portland, performed the double ring ceremony in the place where, nearly 40 years earlier, he was joined in marriage to Ruth Judkins Bailey—Laurie's aunt.

Andre and Joe Bernier stood as the groom's attendants, and their wives, Flossie and Penny Bernier, were the bride's matrons of honor.

Neil and Jerry Bernier served as ushers and ring bearers; Amy Perrault and Jennifer Bernier were flower girls.

Joseph Bergeron escorted his mother down the aisle.

The bride was dressed in light blue street length and lace. Her attendants wore pink. The bride's and groom's mothers wore blue-flowered gowns. The men wore blue tuxedos with light blue carnation boutonnieres. The ladies had bouquets of blue and pink carnations and daisies.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held under a tent, where the party was sheltered from a downpour that lasted several moments.

Guests came from Rochester, N.H., Virginia, Colorado, Portland, Brewer, Upton, Temple and a variety of towns in Oxford County and several in N.H.

ESTHER R. BALENTINE

Esther R. Balentine, 83, of West Paris, died Aug. 6, 1988 at Maine Medical Center, in Portland, as the result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident at South Paris earlier that day.

Born at Bethel, May 21, 1905, she was the daughter of Charles and Eva Brown Balentine. She was educated in Bethel and North Paris schools. Miss Balentine worked as a housekeeper in the West Paris area for much of her life.

Survivors include nieces and nephews. Funeral services were held yesterday (Tuesday), Aug. 9, at Andrews Funeral Home, South Woodstock. Interment at Riverside Annex Cemetery, South Paris. Donations in her memory may be made to Tri-Town Rescue, P.O. Box 328, Bryant Pond 04219, or the North Paris Community Club, c/o Beryl Oja, RFD #2, Box 2240, West Paris 04289.

ERNEST E. STEVENS

Ernest E. Stevens, 86, of West Paris, died Aug. 6, 1988 at Stephens Memorial Hospital, in Norway, where he had been taken following an automobile accident in South Paris.

Born in the Forbes district of Paris on Sept. 29, 1901, he was the son of Arthur and Ethel Washburn Stevens. He attended Paris schools and married Nettie Balentine on June 24, 1932. Mrs. Stevens died July 1, 1980. Mr. Stevens had been employed by Penley Corporation for many years, retiring in 1972.

Survivors include a half-brother, Herbert Stevens of North Paris; and a half-sister, Esther Lucas of Buckfield.

Funeral services were held yesterday (Tuesday) at Andrews Funeral Home, in South Woodstock. Interment in Riverside Annex Cemetery, South Paris. Donations in his memory may be made to Tri-Town Rescue, P.O. Box 328, Bryant Pond 04219, or the North Paris Community Club, c/o Beryl Oja, RFD #2, Box 2240, West Paris 04289.

MARIE W. NICHOLS

Marie W. Nichols, 89, of Bethel, died Aug. 3, 1988 at the Market Square Health Care Facility, in South Paris, where she had been a patient for two months.

She was born at Dumpsytown, Pa., Jan. 18, 1898, the daughter of Andrew and Lehetta Baum Wygant. She received her education in Pennsylvania schools and was a graduate of Shippensburg State College. She taught school in Pennsylvania for a short time, prior to her marriage to Robert Nichols in 1916. They moved to Bethel from New York State in 1949. He died in 1953. She was an active member of the West Parish Congregational Church and was involved for many years with the Bethel Library. Memorial services will be held at a later date.

She is survived by several nieces and nephews.

Newry Fire Dept.'s pumper sees first action

Fire Chief Virgil Conkright reported to the Newry Board of Selectmen Tuesday morning that the Newry Fire Department was called out last Friday evening to extinguish a small grass fire by Rte. 26, at Newry Corner.

Firefighters Virgil and Mike Conkright, Bradley Wight and John Wight responded with the town's "new" pumper and the fire was quickly extinguished, the chief told the selectmen. It was the first time the pumper was used at the scene of a fire, although the firefighters had practiced with it. The pumper consists of a tank and pump placed on a Jeep pickup.

In other business at yesterday's Tuesday's meeting, the selectmen met with Brooks Morton and Akva Morrison concerning a petition drive for a building moratorium. (See separate story.)

The selectmen also talked with Bart Mills, of Sunday River Ski Resort, who requested an application for a road-opening permit on the skiway access road. The opening would be for a larger culvert and larger water pipes for the skiway's snowmaking. Mr. Mills is expected to present the formal application next week.
